

A dog ran so far
so far that he
she couldn't do
pushups
anymore. Nice wizards waited
at the gate.

Nobody wanted
to greet the dog
there but the
wizards and for this they were
made the rulers
of the castle.

With the
resources of the castle at their disposal they began enacting
their plan to steal some gold.

Gold was not
very valuable
but they loved
the taste and
smell of the stuff. Gold was very awesome.

They hired the
squires,
maidens, and
goblins to build
a large claw
machine that
grabbed gold.

When
production was finished, they took the
machine above
the gold factory
in a big balloon.

The machine
worked flawlessly. The gold was
extracted and
this made the
wizards happy.

They were glad
at their good plan. They had a lot of gold
now. This is the end of the story.

The end.